At last a medical work that tells the causes, describes the effects, points the remedy. This is scientifically the most valuable, artistically the most valuable, artistically the most beautiful, medical book that has appeared for years; 96 pages, every page bearing a half-lone flustration in tints. Some of the subjects treated are Nervous Debilly, Impotency, Sterlity, Development, Varicoccle, The Husband, Those intending Marriage, etc. Every man who would know the grand truths, the plain facts, the old secrets, and the new discoveries of medical science as applied to married life, who would atone for past follies and avoid future pitfalls, should write for this wonderful little book. It will be sent free, under seal. Address the publishers,

ALL HAIL, HOKE SMITH I

aby Journet
All hail, thou mighty Smith!
Not simple John, nor Co.one! John
Nor Possthontes Smith
Put great and fimous Hoke.
No low-down, common "bloke,"
Nor poor inferior,
Ent very much superior—
Chief Bos sof the Interior.
No common Georgia cracker,
Nor Southern Bussy Whacker,
But blood of bluss blue
Ho'o the Wah. We're told, were folks

Of some renown. Like Governor Joseph Brown Were 'nole;"
Like Toombs and Cohbs.
In the good times of old
When men were bought and sold,
But we'll not talk of that;
We've settled up that score
And shut and barred the door.

The Smiths
Were never myths.
We all have kin and kith
Ity name of Smith: or name of Smith; but none are Hokes. Ye've searched directories through rom A-to-U a Smiths and found an Oak, yen Roke, ut hary Hoke—not one.

s tell you. Hoke
s quite a stroke
have your name bespoke
r such high office.
au're now a "heavy weight," And taller.
They say, you're six feet two
And wear a larger shoe.
We also hear, grent Hoke,
You're 'upu' in lattleton and Coke,
And torts and trover; And so is Grover. You ought to get along But "Holy Smoke,"

But 'Holy Smoke," Dear Secretary Hoko, How your hot southern gorge would choke If Grover should ever poke His nose around your bureau. We'll tell you Hoke.
We'do not wish to croak
And yet we have
The "bid man's" aften queer.
You'll find 'twill be no joke
To be a simple "spoke".
In Cleveland's wheel of state.
You'll find that he's the "Hub"
Aye; there's the rub.
When he get's cross and glum
He'll go around and chum
With Dan, Lamont
And Crony Blaseil.
And leave the rest With Dan, Lamont And Crony Bisseil, And leave the rest To air their shins And stroke their chins And whistie. Hoke Smith, you'll find it true Though thinking well of you He'll not forake old friends War new.

And greatly to his credit. And greatly to his credit,

We hear great, famous Smith,
You own and print a journal
And publish it diurnal,
And still you're not a colonel!
It strikes us very queer
You do not wear the name,
But you are not to blame;
You simply came too late;
Did not arrive.
Were told, Illi 18%,
Good luck to you, Hoke Smith!
We wish you well.
Be faithful to your trust
And de the best you can,
Don't stir up old dissensions
About our soldlers' pensions;
Don't change the people's plan
About the public land;
Don't raise the tax on whisky,
For all these things are risky.

LIKE HAWAIIAN NATIVES

A Race That Became Extinct on Another of America's Pacific Islands.

The reports of the rapid decrease of the native population of the Hawaiian Islands, which will soon become American, suggests the story of San Nicholas Island, one of the channel group of the coast of California, also Nicholas Island, one of the channel group of the coast of California, also notable as being another of America's scanty possessions in the Pacific.

Ninette Eames, correspondent for the San Francisco Examiner, recently visited this narrow strip of sandstone.

It has an uncanny history, although it is the smallest of the group and farthest from the mainland. It was here that a woman lived alone for eighteen years, and was at last rescued by Captain Nidiver in 1853, who brought her to his home in Santa Barbara, where she died a year later. This female Crusce was the last of a superior race who once inhabited this island, and whom Cabrillo described as "comparatively white and of ruddy complexion." The native men were finally exterminated by Alcutien seal hunters, and the women left alone on Ghalshat or Sea Otter Island, as San Nicholas was then called. When these women were brought off the island by the mission padres one of their number was unintentionally left behind. For the half of a century this poor unfortunate was known as the "Lone Woman of San Nicholas." Her shagskin dress and other relies are yet on exhibition in Rome, where they were sent by the Santa Barbara fathers. The most grewsome of all the sights on this strange island is to be seen on the broad plateau south of Coral Harbor. Here acres of the naked sand are littered with many hundreds of disjointed skeletons and present the most reckless illustration of the "ground plan" of humanity that imagination can interest was plan" of humanity that imagination can plan" of humanity that imagination can plettre. The geologist of the party was almost beside himself with joy, and seized a huge thigh bone and measured it against the canvass trousers of the artist.

"Just as I thought," he cried exult-"Just as I thought, he cried exutingly; "it is all of five inches longer, and you must be a good six feet in your stockings? Who says these islanders were not giants?"

There was also found to be a marked difference in the conformation of the skulls as compared with those exhumed as the other Change and the

on the other Channel islands and the mainland. Their circumference meas-ured several inches more, and the facial angles denoted a much higher grade of intelligence.

It did not require more than a cursory examination of these ghastly relies to give convincing proofs of the physical and intellectual superiority of this ex-tinct race over the Indian tribes of the neighboring islands. Many of the skulls were apparently broken by a war club—
the favorite weapons of the Aleutian destroyers—but the most dilligent
search throughout this ancient battle ground could not produce a single one showing the perforation of a bullet.

YOUNG ARMY OFFICERS. Boys Who Held High Rank During the War of the Rebellion.

The youngest officer in the Union army, who ever wore the double star, was General Pennypacker, of Pennsylvania, who was commissioned colonel of the Ninth regiment of that state when but a little over twenty years of ago, and a brovet major general when but six months past his twenty-second birthday. Pennypacker was terribly wounded at Fort Fisher, and has never recovered though he hay had the best recovered, though he has had the best medical advice in Europe, as well as in America. The youngest full colonel in william E. Hobson, of the — Kentucky infantry, General Schofield says that Colonel Hobson was not more than twenty years old when he commanded a veteran regiment in infantry in the Twenty-third army corps during Sherman's great southern camfantry in the Twenty-third army corps during Sherman's great southern campaign, and part of the time the boy was the ranking officer in the brigade, "and," said General Schofield, "a more intrepid fighter I never had under me." The youngest lieutenant colonel there is any account of was Lieutenant Colonel William Boyle, of the Kentucky infantry, who was only a month beyond his nineteenth birthday when he was commissioned. He was either killed in action or died of wounds in the last veer of the war.

when he was commissioned. He was either killed in action or died of wounds in the last year of the war.

"Kentucky seems to have had a number of very young field officers among the Union soldiers, for another young full colonel was J. Rowan Boone, of Louisville, a relative of the famous pioneer, who was just 21 when he took command of the 28th Kentucky infantry, which was then an old regiment. Colonel Boone's father took the regiment out, and being disabled from wounds, his son succeeded him in the command, and in 1885 brought it home. Col. John M. Bacon, late of General Shorman's staff, was the major of the 4th Kentucky cavalry many months before he was 21. Gene. The mild weather was necepted hy many as the harbinger of an early sp. 113. and probably had influence upon the minds of the traders. It was also the general opinion that the visible supply would not show much, if any decrease. In the latter respect the crowd was in error, for the decrease as published laier in the day was 75,1000 bushels, compared with a decrease a year ago of 302.800. That had a reviving effect for a while, as tild the low temperature prevailing in the northwest. The severe freeze up following the recent mild weather was regarded as a dangerous visitant, but on the advance there seemed to be a general desire to sell, under which the market became decidedly de-

Petroleum.

New York, Feb. 27.—Heavy purchases of oll are reported in the field and the price paid today is said to be as high as 61 cents. The buying, it is said, is for the account of a new refining company on the Pacific coast, and necessarily a rival to the Standard in the refining business. In the oil market the late upward movement was continued, although at his point the volume of business was materially less than that of Saturday. At the cansolidated board it opened strong at 61%c, and advanced steadily to 63%c, colosins at the latter price bid, the sales reaching only 75.000 barrels. On the stock exchange the first saics were made at 62%c and 30,000 barrels changed hands between that price and 630. The close was strong at the figure.

The British Grain Trade.

The British Grain Trade.

London, Feb. 27.—The Mark Lane Express, in its weekly review of the British grain trade, says: The price of Eaglish wheat has not varied in most of the markets. The London quotations are up to the average. The sales of English wheat since the harvest have been 30 38, 300 quarters against 3,938,000 quarters for the corresponding period last year. Four and a half million quarters have heretofore been the average sales. The prices of foreign wheat have slightly appreciated. Australian is privately offering at the period courte at Liverbool. One hundred and seventy-five thousand quarters have been shipped at this price. The remainder of the stock is heid for one shilling advance. The amount of wheat on passage to Great Britain on Fubruary 25, was 2,300,000 quarters.

Dry Goods.

New York, Feb. 27.—The dry goods market opened with encouragement from the weather, but with no material change as to the demand for goods. Mall orders were better and there was a little more doing on the spot. The volume of husiness was in keeping with the conservative tendencies in trade, and with the condition of the market, goods are still relatively scarce, and except in special instances of undesirability of goods, highest pitces have to be paid to secure any near delivery. The market continued under a firm tone, but without any price changes. The jobbing trade showed improvement.
